

Rapidan Energy Group Seeks a Full-Time Oil Market Analyst

Rapidan Energy Group is an independent energy market, policy, and geopolitical consulting firm operating from the Washington, DC area. Rapidan is a highly regarded consultancy led by a team of former senior officials and policymakers marshaling decades of experience in energy markets as well as having served in top government posts in the energy policy, national security, and intelligence areas. The team provides differentiated insights and research to a breadth of clients including leading corporations and financial market participants.

Rapidan seeks an experienced and driven full-time Oil Market Analyst to assist its growing Global Oil Team. The analyst will support all aspects of research and analysis, including industry and market research, maintain and improve proprietary databases and models, write and edit short reports for delivery to clients, and assist with additional client deliverables and ad-hoc projects. This is a remote work position.

Key responsibilities:

- Collect, organize, and analyze statistical data related to the oil sector
- Closely monitor energy industry news and track global oil market developments
- Maintain, improve, and build proprietary datasets and models in Microsoft Excel
- Specialized research for specific assignments
- Prepare and proofread a variety of concise written research materials
- Assist with PowerPoint presentations, including chart design

Skillsets:

- Outstanding quantitative skills and mastery of Microsoft Excel
- Efficient, dedicated, self-starter, able to work both independently and as part of a team
- Superb attention to detail
- Passion for data and quantitative analysis
- Exceptional English comprehension, speaking, writing and editing skills
- Ability to prioritize tasks, work on multiple projects, and produce analysis under tight deadlines

Requirements and qualifications:

- BA/BS degree required
- Strong knowledge and demonstrated interest in the energy industry
- Minimum 2 years experience as an oil analyst, 3 years preferred
- Proficiency with Microsoft Excel, Word, and PowerPoint is required (finalists may be required to complete a test to assess writing, editing and Excel skills)
- Ability to astutely present quantitative information in a visually creative manner
- Ability to work remotely within ET business hours
- Permanent authorization to work in the United States
- To be considered, all candidates must submit (1) a CV; (2) cover letter describing the candidate's suitability for the oil market analyst position; (3) elaboration beyond the CV on experience and achievements as an oil analyst; and (4) contact information for two suitable academic or professional references

Rapidan Energy Group is an equal opportunity employer and offers generous health, retirement, and leave policies and plans.

Please send your cover letter along with your resume and contact information to the following email address: yashna.anand@rapidanenergy.com. All applicants whose submission includes each of the four requirements noted above will receive a reply. Please do not contact Rapidan Energy Group by phone.